Alessandro Volta, Founding Partner of Crosar Capital commented: "I know Marzocchi Pompe very well, a company where I started my professional career as a manager before turning to consulting. As Financial Advisor, Crosar Capital first conceived the leveraged buy-out with which, together with the front-line Management, it entered the share capital of Marzocchi Pompe, then supported the Company in the IPO process and thereafter in the communication to the financial community.

With this operation of strengthening its investment in Marzocchi Pompe, Crosar Capital reaffirms its confidence in the growth prospects of the Company, considering the current pandemic period a particularly fluctuating phase for the Italian stock market, which has severely penalized the valuation of a company with solid fundamentals such as Marzocchi Pompe, as also confirmed by the recent analyst reports on the stock".
